COVID-19 SUMMARY

Coronavirus Disease 2019 (COVID-19)

On 03/02/20 at 0700 hours, the Cal OES State Operations Center (SOC) activated in support of the California Department of Public Health (CDPH) Medical Health Coordination Center's (MHCC) statewide response to COVID-19. Cal OES will continue to provide resource coordination for the COVID-19 event, as well as situation status reporting and advance planning across multiple areas.

SMARTER Plan

On 02/17/22, Governor Newsom unveiled the "California SMARTER Plan: The Next Phase of California's COVID-19 Response". The plan emphasizes continued readiness, awareness and flexibility and helps ensure California can maintain its focus on communities that continue to be disproportionately impacted and stay prepared to swiftly and effectively respond to emerging COVID-19 variants and changing conditions.

Weather Key Points

Regional Operations Center

Western Region

Sunday, May 8

- Strong and gusty northwest to southwest winds will be present across much of southern California and for areas along and east of the Sierra Sunday. Gusty conditions will persist across southern California Monday through Wednesday as well, but will not be as strong as those seen today.
 - Wind gusts of 40 to locally 60+ mph are expected, strongest and most widespread on Sunday and highest over interior southern California
 - These winds, combined with ongoing very dry conditions and low humidity levels, will lead to critical fire weather conditions through Sunday evening across southeast California, especially in Inyo and San Bernardino Counties
 - Areas of blowing dust are also possible over the deserts, locally producing significantly reduced visibility
- Several rounds of valley rain and mountain snow will slide through northern California and the central and northern Sierra Sunday and through much of next week. Some light precipitation will also work into portions of central California for early to mid week.
 - Snow levels will be quite low through early Monday, down to 2,500 feet over northern California before rising back above 5,000 feet by midweek
 - Snowfall amounts of generally 4 to locally 12 inches are forecast through Wednesday, locally higher for the highest elevations
 - Some travel impacts due to snow are possible over the northern California passes through early Monday before snow levels gradually rise
- Much cooler temperatures will be noted statewide through early next week
